FOREWORD

We are happy to present to you the 1955 JEB. May you always cherish this book and may it bring back many pleasant memories of your school days.

To the student body, faculty, and business people, we wish to express our gratitude for your cooperation and support.

The Staff

MRS. GERTRUDE HOPKINS

DEDICATION

To Mrs. Hopkins and Mr. Williams, for their unending loyalty and devotion to their tasks and the high ideals which they not only have held themselves, but have instilled in the minds of those with whom they have come in contact, we, the staff, dedicate this issue of the JEB.

CLASS HISTORY

Let's look back four years on a sunny September morning to a group of bewildered freshmen. Although they were not completely new to high school life, they certainly were not old hands at the business either. It might be interesting to follow their high school career, just to see how they shape up. After absorbing a minimum of the subject material they were exposed to in the ninth grade, they felt themselves worthy of a step upward.

As sophomores they learned that teachers weren't there just to decorate the room, and that books weren't something you tear pages out of to make spitballs. They began joining clubs and participating in other activities. Nothing spectacular happened to the class this year other than broken windowpanes, etc., and teachers turning gray before their time.

Then along came their junior year and they jumped in feet first. After staging a successful magazine campaign and other money-making projects, they gave the seniors and faculty a banquet they won't soon forget--a real hillbilly shindig complete with shootin' irons and cider jugs.

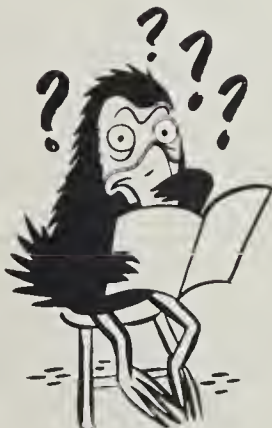

So the carefree days slipped by and before they knew it they were seniors. And all the special things that go with being seniors were theirs--a banquet where someone else did all the work, Senior Day, their personal cards and invitations, the Senior Play, Baccalaureate services, and finally graduation. They have had all of this, yet they leave it for next year's senior class.

For these young men and women, high school days are almost over. They must look forward and not backward, and strive for greater achievements in the future.

But we are happy to know that in the years ahead of them, they will keep and treasure the memories of their high school days.

Dear Senior Class of '55:

You are now completing your public education and it is in order to extend to you, "Congratulations!" for your perseverance and final achievement.

You are standing on the threshold of a new and exciting life. Commencement is truly the beginning - the beginning of greater accomplishments and greater responsibilities. Some of you will go on to college pursuing a higher education to better fit you for life. Others of you will take up your responsibilities in the business world. Wherever you go or whatever vocation you engage in, we hope and pray that the future will be good to each and every one of you. In this connection, you may rest assured that you can depend on us to render the best possible service to you and your community in every way that we know how. Your problems, either in insurance or in civic affairs, are of prime interest to us.

Wishing you the best of luck for the future, we are,

Sincerely,
Paris H. Pugh, Owner
